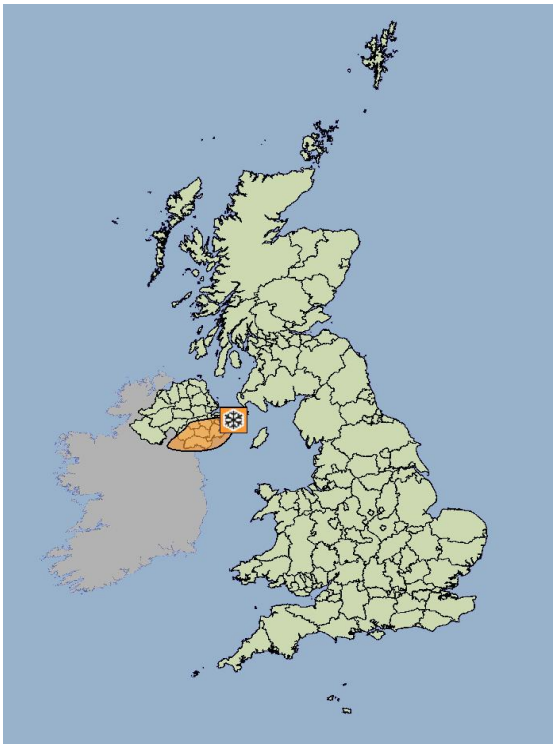
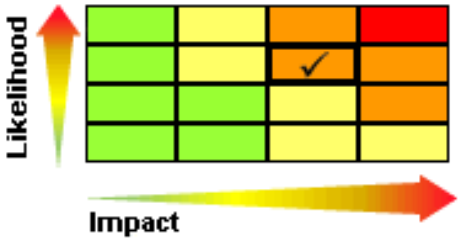
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
This is an update to extend the warning through until Friday morning. A further 3-6 cm of fresh snow is expected quite widely, with perhaps locally 10 cm. Strong winds will lead to drifting and blowing of lying snow and severe wind chill.

The Met Office have issued an Amber Warning of Snow

Valid from 16:40 on Thu, 01st Mar 2018 until 10:00 on Fri, 02nd Mar 2018

Snow showers are likely to be replaced by a more persistent spell of snow overnight, primarily across the south of Northern Ireland, leading to further significant accumulations with drifting. Delays and cancellations to all forms of transport are likely. Roads may become blocked by deep snow and some rural communities might become cut off. Interruptions to power supplies and other services such as telephone and mobile phone networks, could also occur.
